

Steven Harris, MD

Tick-borne diseases update

About the lecture:

Dr. Burrascano and I will be outlining basic and advanced concepts in Lyme treatment with emphasis on practical treatment approaches. We will discuss antibiotic treatment protocols for Lyme and co-infections as well as adjunctive and complementary treatments.

About Dr. Harris:

Dr. Harris has been in private practice treating Lyme disease patients since 2000. He is a director of California Lyme Disease Association (CALDA) and remains active in International Lyme and Associated Diseases society (ILADS) where he works as a training doctor for practitioners interested in Lyme. He has been involved in various research projects. His most recent collaboration with Karen Newell addresses B cell activation in Lyme disease.
